

ABSTRACT

Coating compositions are silane-based coating compositions containing (a) fine metal particles and/or fine metal oxide particles, and (b) a titanium compound of specific structure and/or (d) an organosiloxane oligomer of specific structure, and (c) a silane compound of specific structure. The silane-based coating compositions can give coating films having good dispersibility of fine particles (a) and high transparency even at high concentrations.